BIOGRAPHY

Greg Pedat was born June 21, 1980 in Geneva, Switzerland. Seduced by cinema since a very young age, he first turned to photography as a form of expression (Argentix), which led him to develop a specific expertise in framing shots.

Mr. Pedat started as a lighting technician on short subject films at the age of 17. He rapidly distinguished himself through his passion and visual sense for the craft. After a few years of experience, he transitioned into feature length films and attained the level of Chef Electrician. Working alongside some of the internationally renowned Directors of Photography (Eduardo Serra ASC, Tim Morris-Johns, Renato Berta AFC, John Mathieson), he acquired an exceptional knowledge of lighting and framing scenes.

In 2006, at the age of 26, Mr. Pedat shot his first feature film in the role of Director of Photography (Motel), which finally allowed him to exploit his knowledge of photography. Strong from the start, he rapidly work on other features and became known to a number of Directors, such as Jean-Luc Goddard, consulted Mr. Pedat for his film « Socialism ». Although finally, they did not work together on this film, it was a significant collaboration, which marked Mr. Pedat's ultimate path through film.

In 2011, the French Director Kader Ayd, called Mr. Pedat for the role of Director of Photography for the American Film « Five Thirteen ». The resulting collaboration between Greg Pedat and Kader Ayd grew strong throughout the realization of this film. Then they work over 2 other films (The Devil of Noverly and A Day Like A Week). Associated with Christian Fischele and Charles Biétry, together they founded Spartans Entertainment LLP and are developing additional feature films together. In 2018, they shoot the last movie of Kader Ayd "Une Revanche à Prendre". But Mr Pedat still also work with others Directors.
